

Evening World Ten-Second Movie of Big People in Action

Charles M. Schwab on Business Outlook for 1922 in an Interview for The Evening World

"We must have higher efficiency from the working people; and greater economy from rich and poor alike."

"The country has negotiated the worst curves of the Nation's main street of business."

"Legislative reforms at Washington are needed to restore the prosperity of the country."

"Taxation must not be permitted to stifle small businesses. Our young business men should be given the same opportunities that in the past have raised the American business to a high level."

"Live American business men should stress the vast importance of an American merchant marine."

"The business outlook for 1922 is big. Congress has not yet indicated its attitude toward this business, but certain reforms will probably be settled in due time."

"I am very happy over the prospects of the conferences at Washington. From this we should expect most far-reaching results—commercially and politically."

"When some of the conditions now in the Adamson bill are eliminated, railroads can operate more efficiently and economically. It will permit them to deal directly with their employees."

SKELETON FOUND IN JERSEY MEADOW THAT OF N. Y. MAN

Brother and Wife of Louis M. Kolish Go to Kearny to Identify Body.

The brother and wife of Louis M. Kolish, missing since May 10, 1919, have gone to Kearny, N. J., in an effort to identify the skeleton and clothes found in the Kearny Meadows by two boys hunting muskrats yesterday.

In May, 1919, Robert M. Kolish, proprietor of a drygoods store at No. 839 Ninth Avenue, this city, reported his brother Louis missing. The police of this city then sent out a general alarm, but no clue was ever found. Louis had been in the liquor business and lived at No. 538 East 83d Street, but gave it up to avoid prohibition contingencies and entered the employ of the Submarine Boat Corporation. He was last seen May 10, 1919, when he drew his pay and started for New York.

Louis, according to his brother's report, to the police, had been in ill health. He left a wife, who since has had to go to work, and two children, then seventeen and eighteen years old. On a leather pocketbook found in a coat near the body was inscribed in gilt letters:

"Compliments of L. Kolish, 478-480 Third Avenue, New York."

In the pocketbook was a card with the following words:

"Elbe Lodge, No. 893, F. and A. M. Field up to Dec. 31, 1919."

In the corner of the card, following the printed words "Signature of member," was the name "Louis M. Kolish."

Also in the pocketbook were three twelve-trip railroad tickets for the New York and Newark Bay Shipway, a spur of the Central Railroad of New Jersey. They are marked: "Good only when presented by an employee of the Submarine Ship Corporation."

The skeleton was embedded about six inches in the ice. Only the head was above the ice. There were eight teeth on the upper jaw, with three gold caps, three gold tips and two plain. Nearby, also in the ice, were a coat, hat and shoes. They were partly buried, apparently by a recent meadow fire.

ALLEGED DRUG PEDDLER ARRESTED.

Samuel Berger, No. 315 Fifth Street, was arrested to-day by Federal Agent William J. McCormack and Detective Cowley, of the Fifth Street Station, charged with being a fugitive from Denver, having escaped after arrest charged with selling contraband drugs. Early last spring, according to police records, Berger came out of Sing Sing after serving four and a half years for burglary. He will be sent back to Denver.

MACARTHUR'S IMMUNITY CONTINUED A WEEK.

The $25,000 bail bond on which Alexander A. MacArthur, No. 177 East 18th Street, has been at liberty for a month pending extradition to New Jersey for alleged attacks on two women at Cedar Grove, expired to-day. Judge McIntyre in General Sessions continued the bond, which ever, for one week, within which time it is believed that Gov. Miller will decide on the extradition question.

SMASH WINDOW AND ROB STORE.

Burglars, hurled a 40-quart milk can through a plate glass window on the busiest street of Harlem to-day, and got away with $5,000 worth of fur without arousing any one. It wasn't until 5 o'clock after morning that a policeman passing the store of Joseph Schwartz, No. 63 West 125th Street, noticed the broken window. This was the fifth but only successful attempt in a year to rob the place.

NAVY WITHDRAWS APPLICATION FOR JACOB RIIS PARK

Follows Strong Opposition to Plan Voiced by Civic Organizations Here.

Forty civic organizations, backed by The Evening World, won a great victory at to-day's meeting of the Sinking Fund Commission when the Navy Department agreed to withdraw indefinitely its application for a free present from the city of a generous portion of Jacob Riis Park, Rockaway, which it wants for an aviation station. This action is interpreted to mean that the opposition to the cession of the playground near the oceanfront is so great that it would be useless for the Government to continue its agitation for the land.

Comptroller Craig received an ovation from the gathering of prominent men and women present, all opponents of the Federal Government's application, when he declared that he was unalterably opposed to ceding city land to the United States. His position was particularly strong, the Comptroller added, when the land happened to be a natural park on the ocean sands.

"The Legislature had no right to authorize the City of New York to give away property to the Federal Government," said Comptroller Craig. "When the Government took land for the fortifications at Rockaway it did so under condemnation proceedings. So far as the park property under discussion to-day is concerned, its acquisition by the city forms one of the dark pages in municipal history. But the fact remains that the land was bought and well paid for by the city, and should not be given away but used for the purpose for which it was purchased—a public park."

George Gordon Battle appeared for the forty civic organizations, Joseph Wright, formerly commanding officer of Courts and Boards of the Third Naval District under Admiral Glenwood, appeared as the main proponent of the land cession.

He had a typewritten speech, not delivered because of the withdrawal, which painted a very graphic picture of what the next war might mean to New York City. It was Aldermanic President Murray Hulbert who initiated the withdrawal of the Navy Department's action. He said he was informed that the House Committee on Naval Affairs at Washington appeared to be unwavering of what was happening at Rockaway.

The Sinking Fund Commission agreed not to disturb the naval aviation station now occupying a part of Jacob Riis Park for a period of six months pending final action at Washington.

PRINCESS PONIATOWSKI SUES FOR HER JEWELS

Moves to Get Gems in Vaults of United States Trust Company.

Princess Poniatowski wants her jewels. She has applied to Surrogate Foley for an order requiring the United States Trust Company, her general guardian, to turn over to her $22,000 worth of jewelry. The Princess inherited a $200,000 estate from her grandfather, Francis Cooper Lawrence, and from this receives an income of $10,000 a year. Among the jewelry is a diamond and pearl necklace valued at $5,000; heart-shaped diamond pendant, $2,000; pearl ring, $2,500; and two diamond rings, $1,500 each.

FOLLIES GIRL ASKS $200,000 FROM CLUBMAN AND MOTHER AFTER TRYING TWICE TO DIE

Sues Thorne for Breach of Promise and Mrs. Camp for Alleged Slander.

WAS CALLED 'VAMPIRE.'

Beautiful Mary Lygo Determined to Show She Didn't "Drag Him Down."

(Special to The Evening World.) CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Gordon C. Thorne was sued to-day for $100,000 by Miss Mary Lygo, former "follies" beauty, for breach of promise to wed. Miss Lygo also instituted a $100,000 suit against Mrs. William C. Camp, his mother, alleging slander. Attorney Erbstein for Miss Lygo says she is aroused over what she believes was "shabby treatment" accorded her by her alleged sweetheart and his mother, who, she asserts, was responsible for wrecking the romance.

She charges that Thorne has "fled" to Florida. She has recovered from her second attempt to kill herself because of her love for the young man.

Other suits may follow, according to Mr. Erbstein, who defended the breach of promise action against Thorne, despite the fact that the clubman was only divorced a few months ago from Mrs. Virginia Miller Thorne, society beauty.

"It makes no difference to Miss Lygo that Thorne has no right to marry for some months," said Mr. Erbstein. "She has been given to understand that he will not marry her under any circumstances, and it is because of that understanding the suit was instituted."

"The action against Mrs. Camp is based on an alleged slander in that she has been quoted as saying Miss Lygo is a 'vampire' drawing her son 'down, down.' Such is far from the truth, as we will show at the proper time."

Young Thorne's statement that he would abide by the wishes of his mother and would not marry Miss Lygo was first published following a long distance telephone communication with him at Miami, Fla., where he is spending the winter. Mrs. Camp, who recently divorced Billy Camp, a clubman, has expressed opposition to the marriage.

The suits filed to-day mark the beginning of the end, or perhaps, the real beginning of a romance that has held the attention of Chicago society for some months. The affair became known to the public after Miss Lygo's first attempt at suicide some months ago while in a room at the Hotel Sherman. The girl had just left "The Night Boat" Company at the Colonial Theatre after quitting the "Follies" to remain in Chicago. Young Thorne is said to have had a dinner engagement with another young woman when Miss Lygo called him to her room and, while he pleaded with her, dashed into the bath room and slashed her wrists with a safety razor blade.

Mrs. Virginia Miller Thorne filed suit for divorce a few days later, charging her husband with drunkenness. The episode in the Hotel Sherman was not mentioned during divorce proceedings. Mrs. Thorne testified that her husband had been continually under the influence of liquor during their married life—four years—and that he was the originator of the "silver flash" idea for "Night Boat" here. Later it was rumored Thorne and Miss Lygo were to be married. Once it was reported that

KINGSLEY URGES IMPROVEMENT IN NEW YORK PORT

Opposes St. Lawrence Project at House Warming of Chamber of Commerce Quarters.

Widespread hostility to New York City, in evidence all over the country, and in "the formation of hostile legislative blocs" was declared to exist to-day by Darwin P. Kingsley in addressing 500 members of the New York State Chamber of Commerce. "In some sections of the country," he said, "it strengthens almost any project for New York to oppose it." Mr. Kingsley was referring immediately to the "iridescent dreams" of the St. Lawrence waterways project, and added "politicians will be found lurking in the background."

The occasion of Mr. Kingsley's address was the housewarming at the reconstructed home of the Chamber at No. 65 Liberty Street. He advocated as strongly as he opposed the St. Lawrence project, the work of the Port of New York authority, summing up as follows:

"Unified, co-ordinated and properly equipped, ready to handle promptly, economically and scientifically the prodigious local traffic, the traffic that comes from all the world through Ambrose Channel, that now comes over the network of railroads centering here, that will soon come again from the Great Lakes through our own great waterway, and the port will speedily recover all that has been lost."

Among the guests present was Prince Tokugawa, head of the Japanese delegation to the Washington conference on the limitation of armaments and problems of the Far East, who characterized the Five Power treaty, now being drafted, as "the greatest pledge of peace that has ever been concluded."

"Not only do the hearts and wills of the people, but the vital interests of the great powers, stand behind this treaty which is now in the making," he said.

Prince Tokugawa declared the achievements of the Arms conference are especially important to the United States and Japan because the frank discussion of views resulting from the conference have cleared away distrust and suspicion. "We want no more war," he said, in conclusion. "We have given tangible proof of this fact by our acts at Washington. We have made, with you and other nations, a great peace."

SAYS SHIP BOARD WON'T TAKE GRAIN

Report That Hoover Is Not Given Steamship Space to Be Investigated.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Reports that American shipping interests and the shipping Board are interfering with immediate shipment to Russia of the $20,000,000 worth of American grain provided by Congress will be settled in the Senate.

Senator Borah to-day asked in the open Senate whether it was true that the Shipping Board had refused to permit Herbert Hoover to use Shipping Board vessels to transport the grain. Senator Borah would not believe it, but would find out at once.

2,381 POISON RUM PATIENTS SENT TO BELLEVUE IN A YEAR

450 Were Women—Beer and Wines Urged as Best Cure of Evil.

Dr. George O'Hanlon of Bellevue made public to-day some figures on the increase of the kind of drinking that sends its victims to the hospital, in danger of death, instead of to their beds, with nothing more serious than a headache.

Bellevue Hospital, of course, does not handle cases of ordinary intoxication. It is only when the patient has the definite disease of alcoholism that he is admitted. And these are the figures for the year 1921:

	Men.	Women.	Total.
January	154	32	186
February	154	32	186
March	154	32	186
April	154	32	186
May	154	32	186
June	154	32	186
July	154	32	186
August	154	32	186
September	154	32	186
October	154	32	186
November	154	32	186
December	154	32	186
Total	1,821	450	2,381

For the preceding year the totals were: Men, 1,642; women, 449; grand total, 2,091.

Dr. Menz S. Gregory, director of the psychopathic and alcoholic service at Bellevue, said he believed that beer and light wines would do more to solve the problems of inebriety in this country than all the efforts that have been made toward enforcement of complete prohibition.

He said that a great majority of the alcoholic patients treated at Bellevue in the past two years were of a type that previously would not have been considered inebriated at all. These men and women were brought in, he said, "literally wild" from drugged and impure liquors bought at exorbitant prices from illegal sources. When good whiskey was easily obtainable, he said, it was a simple matter to relieve an alcoholic patient, but now there is grave danger of death or permanent injury in such cases.

"I am against the corner saloon in all its phases," said Dr. Gregory. "But I believe that beer and light wines, well regulated by the Government, would tend to solve a difficult problem."

LAWYER SUICIDE ON EVE OF RETURN OF FAMILY

Clapperton Swallows Carbolic Acid in Brooklyn Home.

Richard R. Clapperton, a lawyer, committed suicide last night in a bathroom in his home, No. 578 73d Street, Bay Ridge. His body was found at 10 o'clock to-day by a woman who had entered the house to tidy up in anticipation of the return of her husband, Mr. Clapperton, and her infant child, who have been away for ten days.

Clapperton had been living alone at his home during the absence of his wife. He was last seen at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at his office, No. 441 Fifth Avenue, Brooklyn. Dr. Kentwasser of Norwegian Hospital said the lawyer had been dependent and collapsed out and examined the quantity of carbolic acid. Neighbors say Clapperton had been dependent and collapsed out and examined the quantity of carbolic acid. Neighbors say Clapperton had been dependent and collapsed out and examined the quantity of carbolic acid.

Health Commissioner Copeland to-day subjected a twenty-year-old automobile to a physical examination and pronounced it good "for fifty years." The test occurred in City Hall Plaza.

The Health Commissioner first ran the car back and forth on the smooth surface of the plaza. Then he backed and turned and cut a few fancy figures, showing himself a master operator. After that he had been fun in every conceivable direction for a number of minutes the Commissioner and his assistants examined the engine with his stethoscope.

"That's a little better," he said, "than the old car I saw going around. If she looks out for twenty years she'll be good for a half century."

STOLE TO RETURN TO BABY GERMAN MUTILATED IN WAR

Belgian Maid Admits Robbing Employer and Pleads for Release.

Antoinette Bureau, the Belgian domestic whose attorney stated to the Court that she had a child in that country whose hands had been cut off by the Germans in the World War, pleaded guilty to-day before Judge McIntyre in General Sessions to one of two indictments charging her with grand larceny.

She admitted having, on Dec. 21, stolen $1,700 worth of jewelry from Mrs. Carrie Hynes, of No. 213 Convent Avenue, her employer. The other indictment charged that she had stolen $2,000 in jewelry from Mrs. Rosalind R. Fox, of No. 91 Fort Washington Avenue, by whom she was employed at that time.

Charles Hickey, the prisoner's counsel, after relating the alleged mutilation of the child, said Mrs. Bureau was eager on that account to return to Belgium if she could obtain a suspended sentence. Judge McIntyre allowed Mr. Hickey until Jan. 12 to submit all possible information about the woman, adding he would take this into consideration in pronouncing sentence on that day.

It is believed by Assistant District Attorney Maloney that Mrs. Bureau sent the proceeds of her robbery to Belgium, and Judge McIntyre instructed Central Office detectives to ascertain what she could about this.

GERMAN SHIP, 25 ABOARD, BELIEVED FOUNDERED

Vessel Last Heard From in the North Sea.

CHRISTIANIA, Jan. 5 (Associated Press).—A message from Hangö to-day says it is feared the German steamer Signal of Kiel, with a cargo of iron ore and carrying a crew of twenty-five men, foundered in the North Sea Dec. 17.

The signal was an iron screw steamer of 1,275 tons.

NEWARK BOY DIED OF POISON

An autopsy performed to-day upon the body of Michael Schwartz, sixteen years old, of No. 128 Wilson Avenue, Newark, who died while swimming yesterday in a bath at No. 12 Paterson Street, Newark, disclosed that death was caused by poison believed to have been a mineral. A chemical analysis is being made.

CATTLE OF THE DEEP

Fish contains as much body-building food as beefsteak and is as readily digested;

Furthermore, meat is sharply limited and must become scarcer as population increases,

While the supply of fish may expand almost indefinitely. All of which is good news,

Especially to those who have enjoyed the delicacies from succulent submarine pastures offered at CHILDS—

Deliciously moist for their right-out-of-the-water freshness.
